

Folding, Durable — METAL DECOYS — Convenient, Life Like
(PATENTED NOV. 13, 1921)

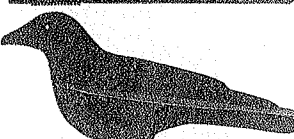

DEWEY'S METAL FOLDING DECOYS

Our patented Goose, Snipe, Crow and Owl Decoys are made of two accurately formed sections of soft steel of suitable weight, so formed to fold together flat for convenience in transportation. When in use, these open and lock at right angles so that a full bodied view of the decoy is presented from every angle to either low or high flying birds. These are enamelled with several coats of celluloid enamel and all colors accurately applied through stencils by air brush methods. One color overlaps another, producing the photographic effect of the real live bird in natural and accurate colors. The leg is a coiled spring which is readily adjusted to any velocity of wind so that the decoy, while in use, is kept in continual movement by the wind. Our patented Duck Decoys and Floating Goose Decoys are made of soft steel profiles presenting side views, and wood float presenting top views. In the water, they present a life-like, convincing action. The bill of most ducks is a rounded common form, while the snipe has a long, straight bill. The floating goose decoy is a full bodied, life-like decoy, which fits in between the bill and breast of profile and is held in place by the cord which is wrapped around neck and anchor. One dozen duck decoys are carried in a convenient wood case 9x14x18" with convenient strap handle to permit the case being used as a seat. These decoys have been developed over a period of years by experimenting, through actual use and the aid of a number of practical and thorough shooters and bird artists, so that we can truthfully claim that our decoys are the most accurately formed and colored; the most durable and the most life-like of any decoy on the market, excepting a live bird.

ADVANCED IDEAS
In Lure and Tackle Construction

Science and Progress have definitely established the superiority in construction of metal over wood. This was first proved true in large structural work, steamships, railway coaches, etc., and because of its successful use it has been gradually adopted by the leading manufacturers of smaller articles.

In our group of artificial lures we offer you a metal construction which in points of practicability, durability, action, finish, and hook attachment, are so superior to the old type of wooden plug as to be obvious even to the amateur.

In the group of "The Handle is the Case" the construction and arrangement is exceptionally unique. They are not only serviceable and practical articles, but are especially convenient to carry, which is of utmost importance to the user.

The family of Folding Metal Decoys fills a long felt want of the sportsman. They combine convenience in carrying, with life-like appearance. They are the most life-like in form and coloring of any decoy on the market, excepting a live bird.
